SENATE OKAYS SWEEPING NEW FOOD STAMP PLAN

Griffin Gives GOP Balance

Michigan Senator Takes Big Step On Way Up

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—It was a campaign like no other, an intensive round of politicking for the votes of politicians waged largely in private, in the sanctuary reserved to senators.

WALTER LAETZ

At stake was the Senate Republican leadership, and the man who emerged at the top after all the inside, intramural vote-gathering was Pennsylvania's Hugh Scott.

Along with the title of the No. 1 Senate Republican, he won an ornate new office, a chauffered black limousine and a $7,000-a-year pay raise.

And Sen. Robert P. Griffin, 45, of Michigan, the party's new whip, has stepped into position to one day claim the succession to the leadership post and its prerogatives.

Scott and Griffin defeated the same man, Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee, in votes a scant four hours apart.

Baker lost the leadership to Scott, 24 votes to 19; the whip post to Griffin, 23-20

Selection of Michigan's junior senator from Traverse City was a balancing act by the GOP between the liberal support for Scott and the conservative backing for Baker.

For challenger Baker, it was a crushing end to a 12-day campaign for the leadership left open by the death of his father-in-law, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen.

Baker had spurned suggestions that he drop from the main race in a deal to take the party's No. 2 job, as whip.

When he finally, and reluctantly, became a candidate for the second job, it was too late.

Baker acknowledged the job of campaigning among senators was a difficult task. And that was particularly true for a relative newcomer, only three years a senator, challenging an elder.

Scott worked with the traditions of seniority on his side. He worked hard, too, to stress the theme of legitimacy—the idea that as whip, and as acting leader since Dirksen's death, he was entitled to a promotion.

CALLED AN UPSTART

Baker's youth was his major asset—but a major liability as well. To some senators he was a

County Supervisors Getting New Name

Supervisors Are Changed To Commissioners

Ninety days after the Michigan legislature adjourns at the close of 1969, the men for years known as county supervisors will be "members of the county board of commissioners."

The state senate and house decided that representative elected county officials should not share the same name as township supervisors

The solons in Lansing didn't feel that names like trustee, selectman, councilor, councilman, county representative, assemblyman or electman were fit for supervisors of county government.

So they picked "commissioners."

Not to be confused, of course, with county road commissioners, county planning commissioners, county parks and recreation commissioners, county drain commissioners, county election commissioners or city commissioners.

"In the mail I got," says State Sen. Charles Zollar (R-Benton township), "It (commissioners) was supported, and since it didn't cost any more money, I agreed."

The name change is "really important and sets government ahead 112 years," the senate appropriations chief adds tongue-in-cheek.

But then, a county supervisor by any other name is still a county supervisor.

Chamber Names New President

Walter Laetz Will Head Organization

Walter Laetz, vice president and secretary of Auto Specialties Manufacturing company, St. Joseph, was elected president of the Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce at a board of directors meeting early today.

Seven other officers for the 1969-70 year also were elected and the results of the annual election of directors made public at the session in the Hilton Inn, M-139, Benton Harbor.

The other seven are Norbert Kent, of Canteen Company of Southwestern Michigan, treasurer; Joseph DeFrance, of the Internal Revenue service, assistant treasurer; David Upton, president of the Benton Harbor Abstract and Title company, vice president of governmental affairs; William E. Smits, of Herkner, Smits, Miskill and Johnson, vice president of economic development; Warren Gast, general manager of Gast Manufacturing company, vice president of community development; Jasper Burt, vice president of Whirlpool corporation, vice-president of industrial and business resources; and Stanley Petzel, president of Appliance Buyers Credit Corporation, vice president of organizational affairs.

Laetz succeeds Robert Starks in the president's position. He had been vice president of manpower in the last activity year. Laetz is a member of the Twin Cities Safety Council, and the trustee boards of Mercy and Memorial Hospitals and the firm's education foundation.

The elections committee reported that the following were elected directors for three year terms: John Banyon, Indiana & Michigan Electric Co.; Smits; James Murphy, Inter-City bank; Willard J. Banyon, News-Palladium and Herald-Press; Don Weiland, Benton Harbor Malleable, Inds. and Petzel.

Bill Seen As McGovern Triumph

Conservatives Call Measure 'A Monster'

By H. L. SCHWARTZ III

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed a sweeping liberalization of the food stamp program that could end up fattening the liberal leadership position of George S. McGovern as much as the stomachs of the nation's poor.

In a major personal triumph for McGovern, the Senate voted 54-40 Wednesday to chuck the recommendations of its own Agriculture Committee and adopt proposals by the South Dakota Democrat aimed at making food stamps available to every poor person in the nation.

Then, ignoring conservative cries that it was creating a "monster" and signing the "death sentence" of food stamps, the Senate sent the proposals on to the House by a vote of 78-14.

What happens now is anybody's guess.

GOES TO COMMITTEE

The McGovern proposals go first to the House Agriculture Committee where Chairman W. R. Poage, D-Tex., harbors deep-seated hostility to such programs.

Essentially the McGovern amendment to the Food Stamp Act would authorize $1.25 billion this year, $2 billion next year and $2.5 billion by fiscal 1972.

It would make free stamps available to families with incomes under $60 a month, allow any family making less than $1,500 a year to buy them with only their signature attesting the income, and set up machinery to force every county in the country to provide food stamps.

The administration last spring asked for doubling of this year's $340 million food stamp recommendation and a hike to $1.5 billion each of the next two fiscal years.

ADMINISTRATION PLAN

The administration proposals would have allowed free food stamps for families with an income of less than $30 a month, would have left it up to the states to continue certifying who could participate and would have moved more slowly in direction of making stamps available to all.

The administration sought to allow families up to $100 a month in food stamps while the McGovern proposals allow up to $125 a month.

Democrat Herman Talmage of Georgia branded the proposals a "monster" and said "the Senate in my judgment has gone too far."

Republican George E. Aiken of Vermont said he was "shocked" and that he believed the Senate had "signed the death sentence of the food stamp program."

Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., chairman of the Agriculture Committee said the House would never accept such a vast increase in the program.

Although the proposals that passed the Senate were co-sponsored by such leading liberals as Democrats Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota and Edward

Twin City Papers Get National Honor

Citation From AP

The Benton Harbor News-Palladium and St. Joseph Herald-Press have been awarded a citation from the national Associated Press Managing Editors association for contributions to the Associated Press news report.

The award was conferred at a meeting of the association in Hartford, Conn., for "consistent membership cooperation by every member of the staff during both normal publication and off hours."

The News-Palladium and Herald-Press earlier were named "Member of the Year for 1968" in Michigan for news coverage supplied to other AP members in the state.

Three other Michigan newspapers — the Ann Arbor News, Ypsilanti Press and Saginaw News — also were among 44 cited in the nation for contributions to the AP by the Managing Editors association.

The national award to the News-Palladium and Herald-Press said: "As the only AP newspaper member in the area, the News-Palladium and Herald-Press staff repeatedly kept the wire abreast of developments in the number of important news stories during night hours on weekends.

"This cooperation applied to both news and photos. On several occasions the News-Palladium and Herald-Press chartered a plane to obtain aerial illustrations of stories developing on Lake Michigan as much as 75 miles from Benton Harbor and immediately made these pictures available to the network."

MURDER COVERAGE

The Ypsilanti Press and the Ann Arbor News were cited for their outstanding help to the Associated Press in the coverage of the murders of eight young women in the area within the last two years.

The Ann Arbor News also earned praise for covering the heart transplant operations at the University of Michigan and for reporting campus disturbances.

Reporters William Treml and Larry Bush of Ann Arbor were singled out for "outstanding cooperation in the coverage of the murders. Their work enabled AP members to start and stay far ahead of all competition."

"The News staff, and especially Mr. Bush, was the mainspring of AP coverage of several heart transplants at the University of Michigan during the year."

The editors gave recognition to Ypsilanti Press and its news editor Basil Stevens and reporter John Cobb for "outstanding performance in coverage of the murders of eight young women. The Press staff, led by Stevens and Cobb, provided out of hours and Sunday protection for all AP members in the best tradition of the service."

The Saginaw News was given an APME newsphoto citation.

It was noted the Saginaw News' photo staff under "chief

Gift Fruit Juice Packs Big Wallop

Hearing Held In California

CORONA, Calif. (AP) — Last June 3 Mrs. Dean Warren returned from a shopping trip and found on her doorstep a bottle of fruit juice and a note welcoming her family to the nearby community of Norco.

The note said the juice was free sample from a dairy that would welcome patronage.

Next morning the Warren family had juice for breakfast. And that's why they all wound up in court.

Mrs. Warren said she felt "nervous tension" after her drink and became "unreasonably emotional and very tired." So, she said, did her daughter. Warren said he felt "very strange," euphoric, nervous, and when he drove to work he had to keep talking to himself to handle the car properly.

That night, Mrs. Warren said, she and her daughter had another glass and both felt frenzied and hysterical and couldn't sleep—"I've never felt this way before."

Analysis of the juice, according to court testimony, indicated it had been spiked with LSD.

The court session was a preliminary hearing for Robert D. Bennett of Excondido, Calif., who since the episode has married the Warrens' daughter. He is charged with furnishing dangerous drugs. Mrs. Warren testified that Bennett and her daughter were having problems last June.

After Mrs. Warren testified the handwriting on the note left with the juice was similar to Bennett's and the judge made a comparison, Bennett was ordered held to answer in Superior Court Oct. 2.

The new Mrs. Bennett declined to testify.

LEGALLY A FLAG?

Girl In Photographs Wears Stars, Stripes

ROCHESTER, N.Y (AP)—Magazine photographs showing an otherwise nude coed draped in what appears to be the Stars and Stripes has given Judge George D. Ogden of Monroe County Court a decision to make on the question: "What is a flag?"

Ogden reserved decision on the question Wednesday after a hearing for six persons, including four students, accused of desecrating the American flag.

The charges stem from the photographs published last May in an issue of the Rochester Institute of Technology's student magazine. They illustrated a story critical of U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

Defense lawyer Julius H. Michaels asked for dismissal of the charges because, he said, the girl was wearing a garment, not a flag.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Nicholas P. Varian countered that the law defined a flag as anything that, when seen, is believed to be a flag.

A Boom Boom Promised For The Flying Football Field

Scratching about for an issue to catch the public's eye and its votes in '70, critics of the Nixon Administration are promising a battle royal on the supersonic transport, the SST.

The monster carrier has been on the design boards since 1958,. yet like Howard Hughes' famous Spruce Goose of World War II notoriety it has yet to wing its way into the wild blue yonder.

The President's foes claim it never will, not on government money anyway, until some pressing problems down on terra firma are met.

Among the problems, real and fancied, are two logically based dilemmas, a mass land borne transportation system and the major airports already overcrowded, undermanned and ill-equipped.

On Tuesday the President announced he would pick up the cudgels dropped by LBJ when the going became sticky in Viet Nam, by asking Congress for $662 million over the ensuing five years to construct and test fly two prototypes by the end of 1972. If the tests disclose a favorable result, commercial production for the airlines would become possible by 1978.

The furor on the SST comes from many angles.

Uncle Sam's present transportation mess mentioned above is one criticism. Rep. Bertram Podell, a New York Democratic Congressman, says, "The government would subsidize a plane that will allow us to cross the ocean in two hours so we may be stuck in traffic jams for three."

The monster's cost is another complaint.

Thus far the government has paid out $600 million in research and designing. If Nixon's estimate is correct, that figure will more than double before take-off time.

Administration opponents argue this additional money should be funnelled to known deficiencies here on earth rather than gamble farther on a project whose commercial feasibility may be questionable.

The SST's noise, the sonic boom resulting from a solid object attaining or losing the speed of sound, raises another objection. This factor is so incontrovertible that at the outset the SST would not be permitted to pierce the sound while flying over land. Its supersonic flight would be held to an ocean crossing.

Valid as are these arguments and much as they may thwart Nixon in the present Congressional session, the prospect for their dispersal already is at hand.

Though only one in 10 or possibly 20 Americans flies with any regularity, commercial air travel is the thing today, so much so that the railroads which are better suited to deliver a superior service on short to medium hauls are stumbling over themselves to mothball their passenger trains.

This airborne ratio is bound to increase and the economics of transportation is quite simple; the larger the carrying capacity the cheaper the per unit cost to the individual passenger. The converse is bankruptcy.

The Boeing 707 is today's workhorse in long distance flying. It will take 150 passengers from New York to Paris in about seven hours.

The SST, as long as a football field, will carry twice that load in under three hours.

Assuming these international air fields (another anti-SST argument because the assumption is widely drawn) can handle the monster ships, the passenger service could be quintuple today's best effort. A ride won't cost a fifth of today's ticket, but presumably should resist inflationary trends.

The market predictably is in sight and if Uncle Sam does not jump into it, somebody else will.

Two European types, the Russian TU144 and the Anglo French Concorde, already have been test flown and are scheduled for commercial delivery by 1972.

Though not as large or as fast as the SST design, they surpass the 707's capabilities.

Since the U.S. has no design between the 707 and the SST, the European leave us no choice but to shoot the moon. While he did not use those words, Nixon's announcement leaves no other interpretation to be drawn.

Another reason for going ahead is the comparison already existent in maritime transportation.

Uncle Sam emerged from World War II with the greatest cargo fleet in history. Then forgot it.

Today the Germans, the Japanese, the Greeks and the Russians are launching new and better ships that causes the U.S. Merchant Marine to look like a rowboat shot full of holes.

Whether it's too late in the day to catch up in shipping is another matter of debate. Suffice to say, however, that much as Washington may recognize this decline, nobody along Foggy Bottom seems in any hurry to plug the gap.

If the U.S. allows others to beat us to the punch in commercial aviation as she has in merchant shipping, we may as well turn off the lights and roll in the sidewalks.

Change Of Direction

Recently there has been a development of major significance in the nation's large cities. Politicians who looked upon highway construction and urban renewal as necessary tools for successful campaigns are vetoing both, and with the obvious approval of the residents of their cities.

First it was the project which would have sliced through the French Quarter in New Orleans. Canceled. Then the mayor of New York decided two controversial new expressways for Brooklyn and Manhattan, hanging fire for a quarter of a century, would be dropped for good.

St. Louis went so far as to reverse itself and cancel a previously approved bulldozer type renewal project. Instead, the city will try to retain what remains of an historic waterfront. Portsmouth, N. H., made a similar decision by deciding to rehabilitate a slum area instead of tearing it down.

Renovation of the cities will not come to a standstill, but architects and engineers must find ways of solving problems other than tearing down everything in sight or insisting that a straight line between two destinations is the most practical solution.

The people want the flavor, if not the conditions, of old and historic neighborhoods. Most of all, they don't want to be displaced en masse. Politicans in some places are listening.

The first specimens of the modern Chihuahua reportedly were found about 1850 in the Mexican state of the same name, the National Geographic Society says. The tiny dog rapidly gained popularity, and some brought more than their weight in gold.

BORN TODAY

William Faulkner, one of America's greatest novelists, came from an old Mississippi family and elements of the family past appear in his books.

The violent death of his great-grandfather, Col. Willman C. Faulkner, furnished him with material for "Sartoris" and "The Unvanquished."

Faulkner, who was born in 1897, enlisted in the Canadian Air Force during World War I, but did not see active service.

After the war, he briefly attended the University of Mississippi and worked at odd jobs.

It was in "Sartoris," published in 1929, that Faulkner created Yoknapatawpha County, which was to be the setting for most of his subsequent works.

In the same year appeared "The sound and the Fury," considered by many to be among his masterpieces. Novel owes much of its style to James Joyce and the stream-of-consciousness technique.

In "As I Lay Dying," Faulkner relates a comic story of a ritualized burial journey.

It took "Sanctuary" to create a sensation and achieve a popular success. It is a book of great craft, allegorical in interest.

"Absalom, Absalom!" marked a high point in Faulkner's development. While "The Unvanquished" is highly praised, it is considered one of his weaker books. He was awarded the Nobel Prize in 1949.

In the 1930's many critics saw only the melodrama and the violence in his writing. It wasn't until 1946 that the continuity and consistency in his work as well as his concern with the "tragic fable" of Southern history, were seen and understood.

Others born today include George Gershwin, Robert Briscie and Glenn Gould.

RIGHT OF OVERTHROW IS DEFENDED

Governments are instituted among people, deriving their powers from the consent of the governed. Whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to change or abolish it, and to institute a new government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form as to effect their safety and happiness.

Prudence will decide what governments long established should not be changed because of light and temporary causes; and all experience has shown that people are more inclined to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing always the same object indicates a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to overthrow such a government.

My son has been wearing glasses from the age of three and now is beginning to resent wearing them in first grade. I know that it is difficult for some people to learn how to use contact lenses and wonder if a child can be taught to do so? Is there any danger in the use of contact lenses for small children?

Mrs. J. J. S.,
Louisiana

Dear Mrs. S.: Contact lenses developed an interest, catching the imagination of people of all ages. The result was that the real and distinct need was Dr. Coleman lost sight of, because it became a social rather than a medical consideration.

Allow me to speak about contact lenses in general and then refer to your particular problem. I have seen advertisements addressed to sportsmen, swimmers, ballplayers and youngsters who "are embarrassed" by eyeglasses to come and seek "professional help." They even suggest a free trial. Those who fall prey to such high-pressure selling must know that they are walking down a dangerous path. The eyes are too precious to be beneficial. I believe that this definite medical decision that contact lenses will be safe and beneficial. Ibelieve that this important judgment should be made only by a physician who is a specialist in diseases of the eye.

There are a number of important medical reasons such as astigmatism, severe short-sightedness, birth defects and other abnormalities that can be greatly helped by contact lenses. Many children even at the age of four for whom such lenses have been prescribed have learned how to insert and remove them without help. If there is a real medical or psychological need that can be fulfilled by contact lenses they should be considered only after discussion with your own eye specialist.

Does the size of the soft spots on the top of the head of a newborn child have any importance in the rapidity of his growth?

Mrs. N.Y., Tennessee

Dear Mrs. Y: Healthy newborn infants have two soft areas on their skulls on either side of which are the firmer bones of the skull. These openings are called fontanelles and remain until the process of bony growth is complete.

These soft areas seem soft but are really remarkably tough because a thick membrane covers the brain tissue and acts as an excellent protection against injury.

Parents of newborn infants, especially with a first-born, are afraid to look at these "soft spots" let alone touch them. With normal, gentle handling you will find that infants are remarkably sturdy even in this area. Doctors readily recognize any unusual delay or premature closing of the fontanelles and quickly seek the cause and attempt to correct the condition.

The night Sylvia played in her first duplicate at the club was a night to remember. She had been a member only three weeks (and had been playing bridge for scarcely more than that) when she was first exposed to the intricacies of tournament bridge.

Sylvia's exploits in the rubber bridge game at the club had already become a constant topic of conversation among the members, and no one dared predict the oddities that were certain to occur when she made her bow at duplicate.

Even allowing for her lack of experience, Sylvia's approach to the game was strikingly different from that of most beginners. Her thoughts ran in strange channels, and all her bids and plays — which to most people seemed unorthodox and even bizzare — were to her the very essence of natural play.

Of course, most of the time these innocent aberrations produced very poor results. However, Sylvia's penchant for the unusual occasionally did produce a fat dividend, and these spectacular successes would invariably keep the members buzzing like mad for weeks.

Take this deal from the duplicate. It was played at 13 tables, and at all of them the final contract was four hearts.

At nine tables West led a spade, at two tables West led a diamond, and at another table West led a trump. In each and every case declarer made 13 tricks.

It remained for Sylvia to conjure up a different lead. She wasn't trying to be brilliant — Sylvia always made the play that to her seemed proper —but she didn't know any better at the time. She led the jack of clubs!

This play had a devastating effect. East won dummy's queen with the king and returned a club. Sylvia cashed the A-9 and, not realizing that all the clubs were gone, returned the four.

Declarer could do no better than discard from dummy, and East ruffed with the jack. South overruffed, but he now had to lose a trump trick to go down one!

ST. JOSEPH, MICH., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1969

FORUM WILL DEBATE CONTROVERSIAL ISSUES

LOTS OF ACTION; North end of downtown St. Joseph, bordering St. Joseph river, was pretty shabby only a few years ago. Now urban renewal — plus public and private investment — are converting it into what is perhaps one of handsomest city waterfronts in nation. New Berrien county courthouse (upper left) was first big structure on cleared ground. Left center is recently completed Lakeview Terrace, low cost housing for elderly. Immediately to right is the soon-to-be completed Holiday Inn. Just above it is "Courthouse Square" — home of Holly's Landing and a variety of stores and offices. At bottom center is the Whitcomb hotel, empty while it is being remodeled into retirement apartments. To left of hotel can be seen the beginning of construction on a new city bandshell. Six Panel Discussions Scheduled

Area Groups Sponsor Series In St. Joseph

A local forum for debate of controversial issues will be provided this fall in a series of six panel discussions jointly sponsored by the St. Joseph—Benton Harbor YWCA, the Berrien County Council of Churches and the Twin Cities Area Human Relations council.

Topics for discussion were chosen from among those now before the Michigan legislature and the U. S. Congress. Speakers were invited from Lansing, Grand Rapids, Chicago, Andrews university to participate with members of the local bar association and community study and action groups.

All of these Tuesday evening discussions are scheduled for 8 p.m. at the St. Joseph YWCA, 598 Pleasant street. The first, on Oct. 14, centers on the question whether Michigan's abortion laws should be liberalized. Speaking in support will be Mrs. James Beckett, of the Michigan Council on Abortion in Grand Rapids. Opposing it will be Dr. Robert P. Locey, director of the Berrien county health department. Mrs. J. E. Gruel of St. Joseph will moderate.

PAROCHIAL SCHOOL AID

On Oct. 21, the question is whether Michigan tax funds should be used for parochial schools. Mrs. Jackie Warr, diocesan assistant superintendent of Catholic education from Lansing, will argue "yes" and Dr. Mark E. Lewis, superintendent of the Benton Harbor school district, will argue "no." Also on the panel will be Richard Ziehmer, superintendent of the St. Joseph school district, and St. Joseph Atty. Tat Parish, who will serve as moderator.

Priorities in spending federal tax dollars will be the concern Oct. 28. of St. Joseph Atty. David Vander Ploeg, Rev. John Keegan and a third, announced speaker. Judd Spray of Benton Harbor will serve as moderator.

On Nov. 4, Reger Smith, director of Tri-CAP, will argue for a guaranteed annual income to replace current welfare programs. Opposing that position will be Jacob Jalving, instructor of sociology at Lake Michigan college. Reacting to their arguments will be Verne Robbert of the Berrien county department of social services. Benton Harbor city Atty. Samuel Henderson will moderate.

POSITIVE POINTS

State Senator Roger Craig of Dearborn and Lionel Stacey, superintendent of Lakeshore schools and a former state legislator, will talk about what's positive in current student unrest. Also on the Nov. 11, panel are Dr. Walter Browe, vice president of Lake Michigan college, and James Carroll, president of the Lake Michigan college student council.

Finally on Nov. 18, the issue of Red China comes before Dr. King-yi Eugene Hsu, instructor of political science at Andrews university, and Edwin Prong, instructor at Lake Michigan college. Mrs. Robert C. Roop of St. Joseph will moderate.

Adult tickets are $5 for the series or $1.25 a session. Student rates are $2.50 and 75 cents. Groups may arrange in advance for blocs of six single admissions for $5. Tickets are available at Gillespie's drug stores on State street, Riverview drive, and Pipestone, at Wilder's book store, Lake Michigan college bookstore, the YWCA, or the Berrien County Council of Churches' office.

NOW SHE KNOWS HIM: Gladys Beigh wrote a letter praising her newspaper carrier for politeness and honesty. Mrs. Beigh said she didn't know his name. It's Alvin Grier, 13, shown on his new bike purchased with his earnings. (Photo by Pete Mitchell).

Newspaper Boy Scores 'A-Plus'

Customer Lauds Honesty, Courtesy Of Carrier

Unsolicited testimonials aer always the best.

This one came to our circulation department from Mrs. Gladys Beigh, 1297 Jennings avenue, Benton Harbor.

Unlike some messages to the department, this one is strictly laudatory. It expresses Mrs. Beigh's esteem for the courtesy and honesty of her carrier boy —Alvin Grier, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Grier, 1188 Bishop.

Mrs. Beigh wrote:

"I would like you to know what a fine carrier you have on this route. I have been pleased with all the boys we've ever had, but this one is unusually courteous and honest.

"I don't even know his name and yet he always speaks to me by name. What really impressed was that yesterday (Sep. 20) he really proved what an honest young man he is.

"A couple of weeks ago when he was making collections, I met him on the street. Knowing I wouldn't be home when he called, I paid him and forgot all about it. Yesterday when he came I noticed on my card those back dates and that they weren't punched.

"I took the money and told him I owed him a couple of weeks. He patiently explained to me how I had paid him on the street. I'm sure I wouldn't have remembered and he could have easily kept the money.

"I thought how many times we call or write to complain, but seldom do we call to report a good deed. So I'm taking this time now to pass this one to you. May we have many more young men just like him."

Al has been a carrier boy since last March and enjoys it, his mother said. He's now riding a brand new bike, a material reward of his work.

When a youngster signs as a carrier, he agrees to meet certain obligations. One of them: "To be courteous and polite to your customers, your district advisers —in fact all persons you may contact."

Al's route manager gives him A+.

Seven Hurt In 3-Car SJ Crash

Two In Hospital With Lacerations

Two youths were hospitalized and five others treated and released from Benton Harbor Mercy hospital following a three car accident yesterday at Columbia and Niles avenues, St. Joseph police reported.

In fair condition this morning were Richard A. Brant, 17, of 3234 Lincoln avenue, St. Joseph, and Diane Jonatzke, 15, of 1935 Hinchman road, Baroda. Both were admitted for multiple lacerations.

Brant and Jill Muhlbrandt, 17, of 2925 Niles avenue, St. Joseph, were drivers of cars that collided with a car driven by Jo Ann Cassidy, 16, of 1325 Michigan avenue, St. Joseph, Police said.

Treated and released were Miss Muhlbrandt, Miss Cassidy, and three passengers in Miss Cassidy's car, Carol Tiefenbach, 15, of 1405 Lewis avenue, Derek Ruth, 18, of 848 Lane drive, and Dianne Lay, 16, of 1322 Harrison avenue, all of St. Joseph.

Police said Miss Cassidy was pulling out onto Niles avenue when her car skidded on the wet pavement into the path of two approaching cars on Niles avenue. She was issued a summons for careless driving.

Man Helps Others, Thief Helps Self

While St. Joseph's former mayor, William Rill, 1905 Langley avenue, St. Joseph, was out helping others last night, someone was helping himself to Rill's $40 top coat, Benton Harbor police reported.

Rill had left the coat in his car, parked in the 900 block on Colfax avenue, Benton Harbor, last night while he was selling light bulbs for the Lions club sight conservation fund.

FOR LINCOLN, SJ. TOWNSHIPS

Sewers Are One Step Closer

The Berrien county public works board Wednesday cleared another small legal hurdle in the $2.7 million Lincoln-St. Joseph township sewage system by adopting a resolution on bonds.

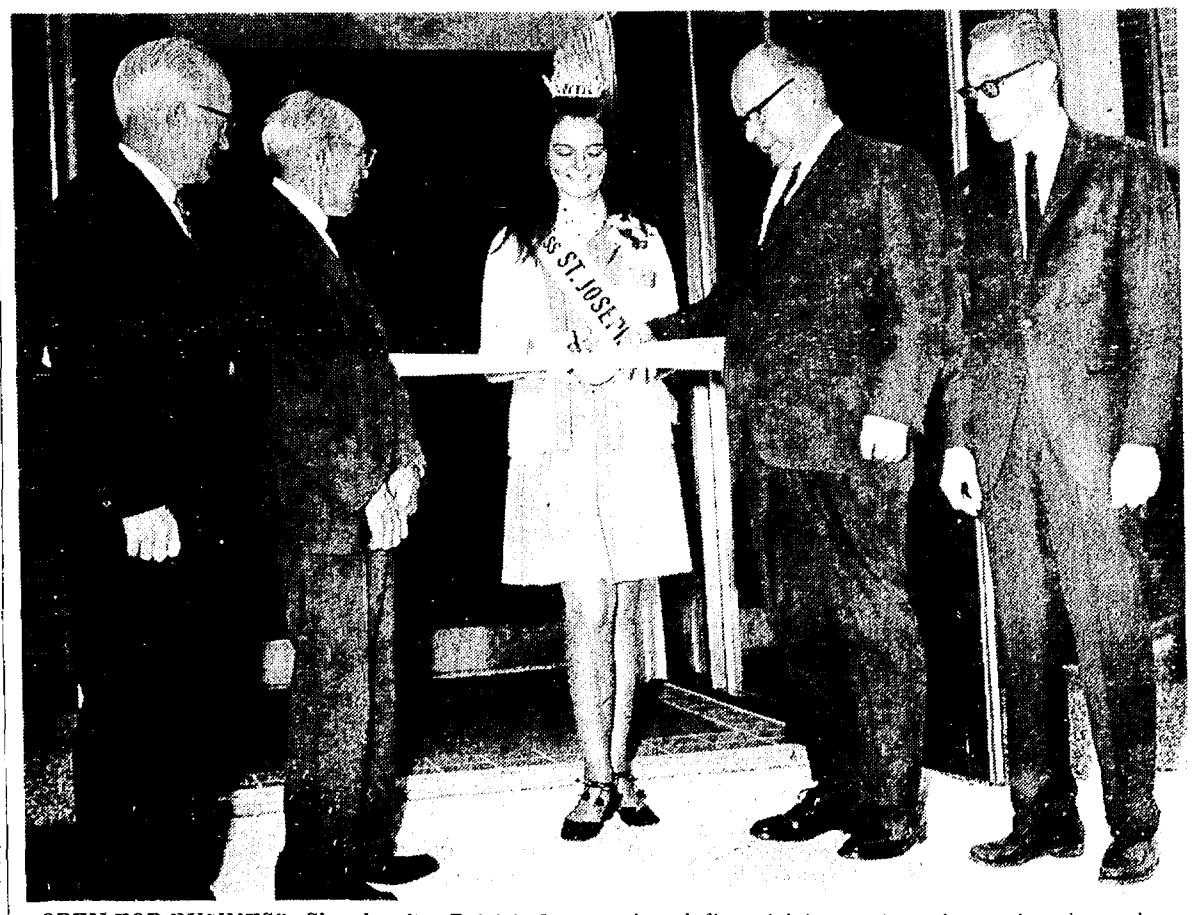

The board's resolution permits it to advertise the sale of $1,565,000 in general obligation bonds, backed by the county but to be paid by the sewage system municipalities, that will finance about 45 per cent of the project.

The difference between bonds and the project's estimated $2,775,000 cost, said Berrien Planning Director Thomas Sinn, is to be paid by state-federal grants.

The board awaits word on these grants from the Michigan Water Resources commission and the Federal Water Pollution Control administration.

The board expects to sell bonds in December following the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission's approval, Sinn said.

The board also met briefly with officials of Benton Harbor, St. Joseph and the twin city sewage treatment plant to discuss a planned enlargement of the plant plus secondary sewage treatment and removal of phosphates.

OPEN FOR BUSINESS: Shortly after Patricia Larko, Miss St. Joseph, and Mayor W.H. (Duke) Ehrenberg cut traditional ribbon at Peoples Savings association's new St. Joseph branch, it was business as usual. At the ribbon cutting were (left to right): Merle P. Durren president of the Benton Harbor based financial institution, charter board member, W. A. Vawter II, Miss Larko, Mayor Ehrenberg, and Robert Durren, vice president and treasurer of firm. Open house will continue today and Friday. (Staff photo).

Three Musicians To Play Friday At Gard School

Children at Gard school for the retarded in St. Joseph will get a musical treat Friday when three professional musicians perform for them. The performers are Ben Fisch on the harmonica, pianist Julane Pelletier and Wilford Harmon, master of ceremonies. The show is a grant from the recording industry and Local 232 of American Federation of Musicians.

HULL PRINCIPAL

Cooper Heads School Administrator Group

John Cooper, principal of Hull school, was elected president last night of the organization of principals and certificated administrators in the Benton Harbor school district.

JOHN COOPER

Other officers elected were Rod Halsted, principal of the Benton Harbor junior high school, vice-president; Mary Buesing, principal of the North Shore, Lafayette and Eamon schools, secretary; and Joseph Shurn, principal of Seeley McCord, treasurer.

Named as committee chairmen were: Halsted, salary; Leonard Cassidy, ethics; Ida Hoon, hospitality; Donald Pobuda, public relations; Carlton Hutchinson, transportation; and Donald Reed, insurance.

Pobuda said the association will meet the first Wednesday after the district's school board meets.

The purpose of the organization is to provide better lines of communications between administrators; help develop a better educational program within the system; improve working conditions, and improve the salary structure.

Talks Reopened

HARPER CREEK (AP) — Negotiators for the Harper Creek Education Association and the Harper Creek School Board have resumed negotiations after failing to agree on acceptance of a fact-finder's report. The teachers accepted the findings, but the school board rejected them. Schools remain open.

COLDWATER TAKES OVER CATHOLIC SCHOOL

Enrollment At Allegan Near 3,100

Official Count Of Students Due On Friday

ALLEGAN — Supt. L. E. White estimated that total Allegan school district enrollment would reach 3,100 by the official enrollment date tomorrow.

Preliminary reports showed 1,740 students enrolled in elementary grades, 723 in junior high and 623 in senior high school for a total of 3,089. This was an increase of 20 over last year's total of 3,069.

White also revealed the debt service tax would be cut two mills this year from 10.5 to 8.50 mills.

The school operating tax rate will remain at 17.09 mills for a total tax rate of 25.59 mills.

White said the reduction in the debt service levy was made possible by an increase of more than $7 million in the state equalized valuation of the school district.

Receipts from school operating taxes also increased proportionately, according to White, but this was offset by the state aid formula which reduces the state's contribution when equalization valuations rise.

White pointed out that the district actually lost funds as a result of the increase in equalized valuation because of the deductable feature of the State Aid act.

U.S. Funds Approved For Housing

SOUTH HAVEN — Additional federal funds being sought by the City of South Haven for its low-rent housing project have been approved the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Approval of the $118,202 supplemental grant was announced Wednesday by Congressman Edward Hutchinson in Washington, D.C.

The additional funds were sought for the landscaping and paving phases of the project. The initial construction grant totaled $853,761.

Work on the 50-unit project is expected to be completed by Nov. 15.

TRUCKER KILLED

BATTLE CREEK (AP) — Jerome Ment, 35, of Maple Heights, Ohio, a truck driver, was killed Wednesday when his semi-trailer truck rolled over on M-37 north of Battle Creek.

BACK IN ROCKER: Phillip Grant, the world's rocking chair champion, kicked off a new rockathon Wednesday in an attempt to beat his previous record of 104 hours and to raise $10,000 for Muscular Dystrophy campaign. With Grant, a 20-year-old junior from Eau Claire, is Yvonne Marks, an MSU freshman, who joined Grant and 24 other students in the competitive "rock." (AP Wirephoto).

Wayne Budget Proposal Holds Line On Taxes

DETROIT (AP) — Wayne County's Board of Auditors has presented the county Board of Supervisors a recommended $162.3-million budget — without new or increased taxes.

The budget proposal presented Wednesday for study and revision by the supervisors would fund county agencies and services for the year beginning Dec. 1.

The budget, if approved, would mean an $18.1-million spending increase over the current one.

Two From LMC Meet President

Student Senate To Hear Report

Lake Michigan College student senators will get a report next Wednesday on a three-day presidential conference in Washington, D.C., last weekend attended by two from LMC.

Dr. Michael Stone, dean of students, and Student Senate President James Carroll of Benton Harbor flew to the conference last Friday and joined some 250 other collegians from all across the U.S. to meet President Nixon and hear talks on college topics from a host of government and other officials.

The two shook hands with President Nixon, taped most of the talks and will review the tapes and report on the session to LMC senators.

The theme in Washington was "to seek the answers together". Talks covered federal funding, minority groups and student conduct, among others.

Community Schools Get 176 Pupils

Jurisdiction Shift Due To Operating Expense Problems

COLDWATER (AP) — The Catholic elementary school in Coldwater became part of the public school system Wednesday.

Supt. Norman Olmstead said transfer of the St. Charles school's 176 pupils in grades one to six to the jurisdiction of the Coldwater Community schools was due to "internal problems concerning operating expenses."

Olmstead said the transfer was made in an agreement that the Coldwater schools would lease the parochial school building and connected facilities for a three-year period.

$1 FIRST YEAR

Under terms of the lease, Coldwater will pay $1 for use of the building for the first year and $7,500 per year for each of the two remaining years.

Olmstead said the school system would assume the parochial school's committed operating budget for the 1969-70 school year, including all salaries and costs but excluding expenses for supplies already purchased.

He said the entire staff would be retained on the payroll for the school year.

No religious instruction will be given in the school, Olmstead said, adding that any such classes would take place in offtime sessions.

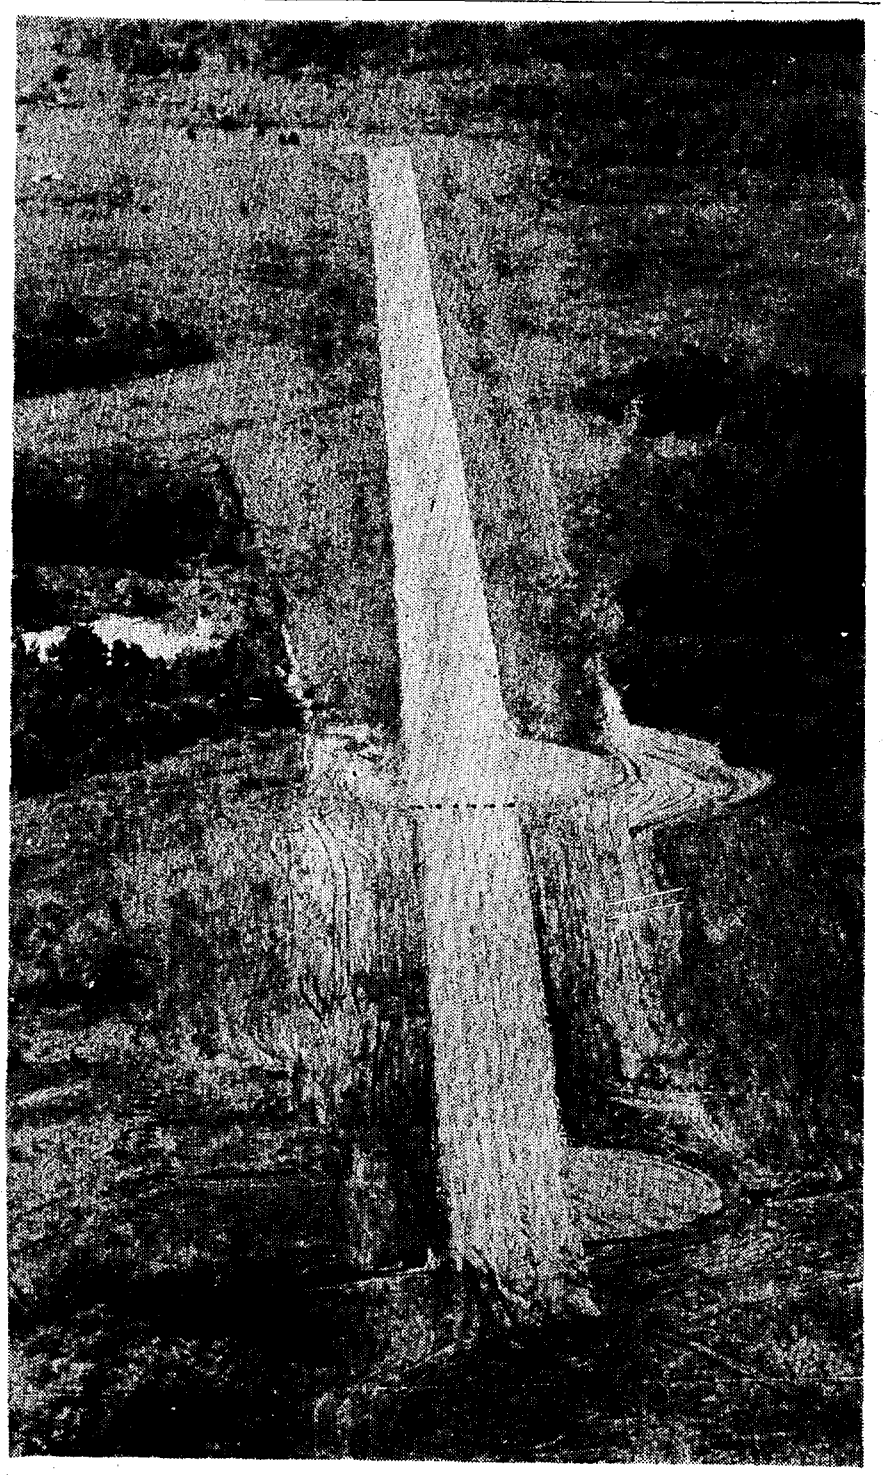

DETAILS TOLD

Olmstead said Sister Margarete Gibbs will remain as principal of the elementary school. She and two other nuns holding degrees and state certificates together with four lay teachers were all transferred to the public school faculty. The school custodian and secretary also were transferred.

The seven teaching staff members will go on the public school system salary schedule in the 1970-71 school year.

Elementary pupils will receive religious instruction in St. Charles Catholic church across the street from the school. Olmstead said arrangements were worked out for religious classes in the school after regular school hours and on weekends. The Coldwater junior high and senior high school now has a released time program of religious education for Lutheran students.

Olmstead said he was told that seven other such transfers of Catholic elementary schools in Lansing and Jackson areas to public schools are being negotiated through the Catholic Diocese of Lansing.

Ol' Man Winter Tries To Steal Fall's Show

Fall officially began at 12:07 Tuesday, but old man Winter made an attempt to steal the show Wednesday afternoon.

Al Knittel, assistant manager of the Benton Harbor fruit market, reported yesterday what he called "a misty white substance" falling to the ground briefly in the afternoon.

A Coloma resident was also reported to have seen light snow flakes in the air for about 15 minutes Wednesday afternoon.

Ground temperatures through the afternoon held steady at 53 degrees on this newspaper's recording thermometer. The Weather Bureau, however, said colder air aloft provided conditions conducive to formation of snow.

Two Teens Arrested At Covert

COVERT — Two teenagers were being held by state police from South Haven today after one was apprehended following a high speed chase through Covert township Wednesday night.

Calvin Jeffries, Jr., 17, Covert, was apprehended by troopers who fired two warning shots before he stopped. Officers said they received a report that Jeffries had taken a gun from his home following an argument with Frederick Carl Hill, 19, Dowagiac.

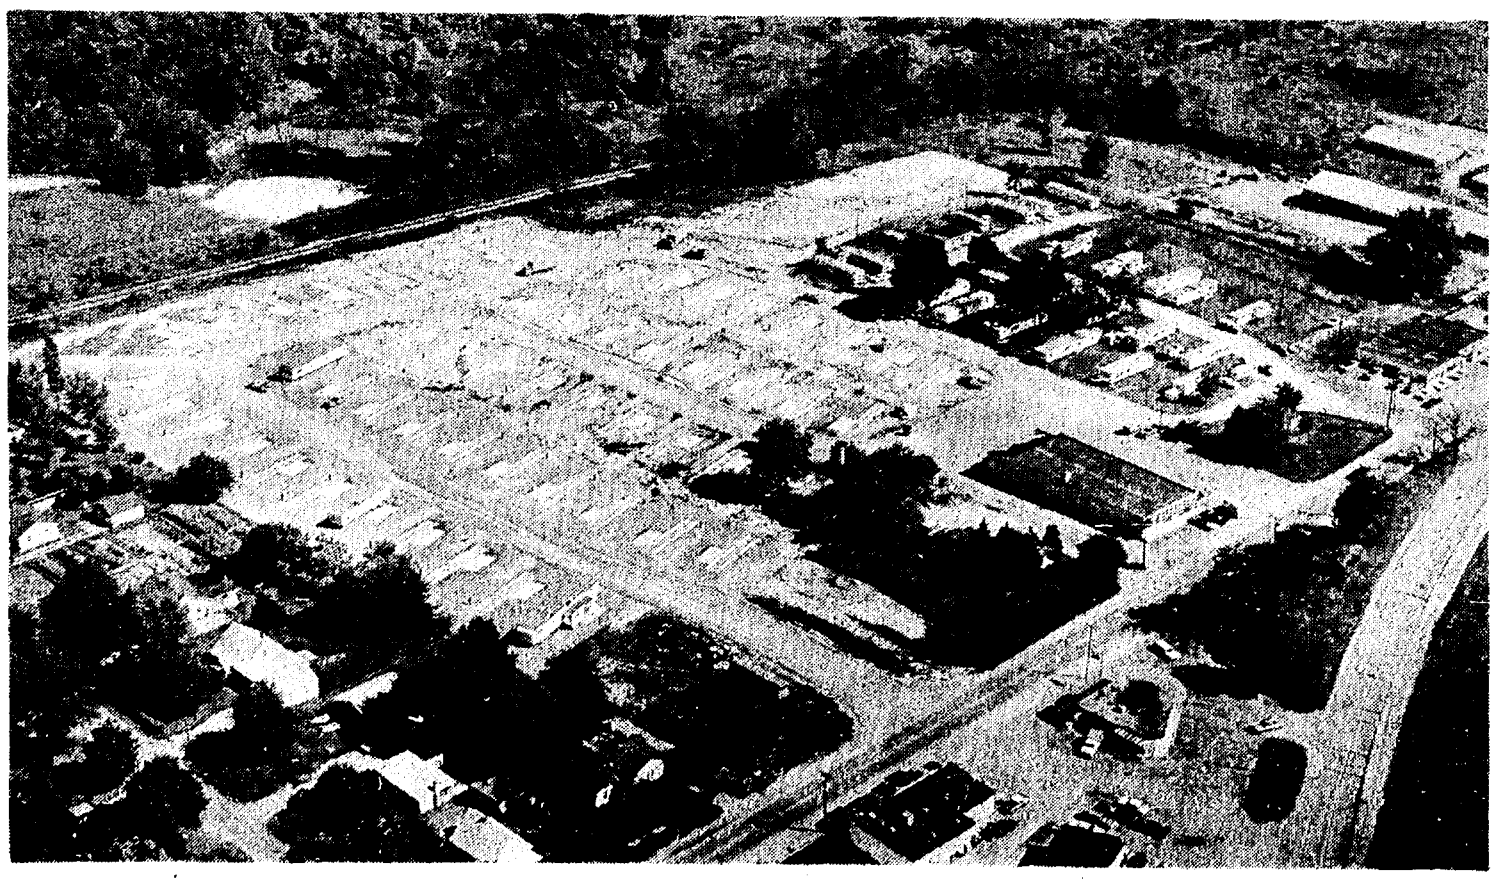

When troopers arrived at Jeffries house, he sped off. They chased him for 10 minutes across several Covert township roads before he stopped his car and attempted to flee on foot on 34th avenue near M-140. Officers fired the warning shots and the youth stopped.

They later arrested Hill, who they said was serving in the armed forces.

Troopers were consulting with Ray Barrett, assistant Van Buren county prosecutor, on the case today.

TRAILERS MOVING IN: New addition to Chet's Mobile Home park at Coloma is now ready for occupancy and several mobile homes are already moving in. Park on Red Arrow Highway adjacent to Coloma east city limits is owned by Dr. William Cooper of Coloma. The 15-acre site features underground utilities and 150 amp electric service for those wishing to use electric heat. Dr. Cooper purchased park a year and a half ago and work began in March to expand the park from 24 to 80 lots. Addition is located on former Zeilenga Poultry farm. City water and sewage is available at park which will be blacktopped and landscaped before winter. Cost of the new addition was about $135,000. Park was originated by the late Chet Hocker, a former Coloma mayor, and the name of park was retained by Dr. Cooper. (Aerial photo by Adolph Hann.)

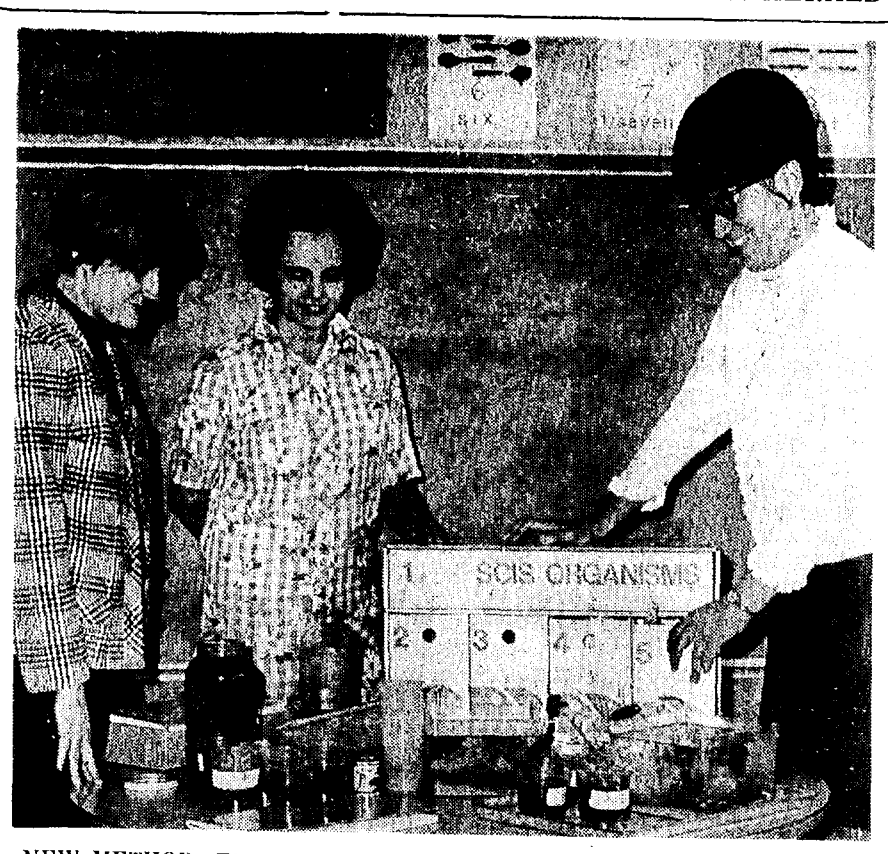

'Coloreds' Say No To Apartheid

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — South Africa's mulatto voters—known locally as "colored" — overwhelmingly oppose the government's apartheid policy of racial segregation, early returns from Wednesday's national election of the new Colored Persons Representative Council showed.

The only party that opposes apartheid, the Labor party, won 13 of the first 20 seats counted. The Federal Colored Peoples party won six seats, including three that were uncontested, and the Republican Colored party won one.

Twenty of the 60 seats on the council will be filled by government appointees who can be expected to vote with the pro-apartheid groups. Thus Labor must win 18 of the remaining 20 seats to have a majority voice on the council.

The council will have no real power. And the strong anti-apartheid trend is expected to have no effect on the militant white supremacists of the ruling Nationalist party.

NEW METHOD: First grade teachers (from left) Mrs. Anna Mella of Sterne Brunson school and Mrs. Nancy Ring of Sorter are instructed by Miss Carol Detwiler of Fairplain Northeast in use of science kit to be used in Benton Harbor schools for first time this fall. Golda Meir Seeks Arms, Aid Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) —Shopping list in hand, Prime Minister Golda Meir of Israel hopes to convince President Nixon the United States should boost its arms sales to her embattled country.

The former Milwaukee school teacher who became leader of Israel last spring reportedly believes Middle East peace hopes lie in a strong Israeli military deterrent.

To that end she went into her scheduled meeting with Nixon today reported ready to ask for an additional 24 Phantom and 80 Skyhawk jet planes to bolster Israeli air forces and and wants closer economic ties.

Her arrival in the capital coincides with reports that Israel also is negotiating with the Sikorsky Aircraft Corp. on a $337 million order for 135 helicopters.

50 PLANES

The United States now is delivering 50 of the supersonic Phantom fighter-bombers sold to Israel by former President Lyndon B. Johnson last December for $200 million.

The United States also has promised Israel 100 Sky Hawk fighters.

Her expectations for economic aid were less well known, although plans for a nuclear desalinization plant for Israel, financed through a $30 million U.S. grant and long term loans, is pending in Congress.

The United States terminated its economic and technical aid to Israel in 1965 after spending more than $2 billion over a 17-year period. There is no direct U.S. military aid to the Israelis.

Administration officials have been reluctant to discuss prospects for additional arms sales to Israel. Nixon wants to avoid escalating the already tense relations between Israel and her Arab neighbors.

But Nixon's call for limiting the arms buildup in the Middle East was met with a cool—even cold—reception from Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko at the United Nations last week.

The administration does not believe a major Middle East war is inevitable, officials said, but it fears a miscalculation of the other's intentions by either side could result in drastic consequences if the arms race continues.

Military Regime Silences Critical Press In Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Brazil's military government closed the newspaper Tribuna da Imprensa Wednesday night.

The paper, which formerly was operated by the fiery newsman-politician Carlos Lacerda, had been running a series of articles on the political crisis triggered by the illness of President Arthur da Costa e Silva. But informants said the suspension apparently was due to a column Wednesday criticizing friends of Finance Minister Antonio Delfim Neto.
